DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

Figure 1 should be designated by a legend such as --Prior Art-- because only that which is old is illustrated. See MPEP § 608.02(g). Corrected drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 3 recites the limitation "said first screws" in line 2 of the claim. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1,4,5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Cohen et al. (6454806). Cohen et al. disclose (Fig. 14A) an expandable bone device 90 with first and second sections having outer surfaces 91 for contacting bone. Fig. 14C shows the device has adjusting means 93 and activating means 92 to cause the adjusting means to shift the first and second sections to an expanded condition outward to contact the bone. Please note that the intended use, as set forth in the claims, carries no weight in the absence of any distinguishing structure. Regarding claim 4, it can also be seen the activating means 92 have tapered surfaces 96 that correspond with tapered surfaces of the first and second sections. Regarding claim 5, the examiner is interpreting the claimed elements “prosthesis” in this way: the wedges are part of the prosthesis and are held tightly within the two sections. Claims in a pending application should be given their broadest reasonable interpretation. In re Pearson, 181 USPQ 641 (CCPA 1974). See also In re Morris, Fed. Cir. 1997 127 F3d 1048, 1054,1055.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Young et al. (6190414). Young et al. disclose (Fig. 13) an expandable bone device with first and second sections 158,160 having outer surfaces for contacting bone. It can also be seen the device includes adjusting means 140 and activating means 136 at the end sections. Please note that the intended use, as set forth in the claims, carries no weight in the absence of any distinguishing structure.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Young et al. '414. Young is explained supra. However, Young fails to disclose a pair of screws engaging the same end sections. Young does disclose (Fig. 15) a pair of devices with each containing a screw for adjusting the sections to engage the bone. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the device of Young and enlarge the plates such that a pair of screws can be used at the end section to cause the plates to engage bone. It would be obvious to one of ordinary skill to make the devices integral for simplification and unitary apparatus is well known in the art. Thus, only one device needs to be inserted as opposed to two separate pieces.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 3 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
